June Letter

Dear Friends,

It must have been a truly extraordinary sight the day that Jesus ascended into heaven. I think in these days when the sight of planes flying high above us in the sky is an everyday occurrence, it is hard to imagine how utterly remarkable it would have been. We'll be thinking about his ascension in our services on Sunday 1st June.

Imagine being one of Jesus' disciples when this happened. Just a few weeks earlier you have experienced Jesus' resurrection from the dead. And over a period of almost six weeks, you find that on occasions when you gather with his other followers, Jesus suddenly appears with you out of thin air. You can see him – complete with the scars of his crucifixion. You can touch him and talk to him; he can cook fish on a beach barbeque, and eat it too.

But then he can disappear again. When he is with you he talks a lot about leaving and returning to the Father, about sending the Spirit to replace him. And then finally the day comes when he walks with you out of the city of Jerusalem in the direction of Bethany.

As you stand with him, he leaves the ground and ascends into the sky; further and further up until he goes into the clouds and you can see him no longer. As you finish gazing up in the sky and look around you, there are two men beside you dressed in white. They confirm that Jesus has gone into heaven.

As Jesus had told his followers, his ascension was only the first part of what was planned. The second part was the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. We'll be remembering all that happened that day in our services on 8th June, which this year will also be our Civic Service.

Since that first day of Pentecost, those who believe and trust in Jesus have had the Spirit's support as Comforter, Counsellor, Advocate and Intercessor. He teaches us and reminds us of the ways of Jesus and leads us into all truth. Individually, when we work with him, he grows his fruit in our hearts. As the church, when we look to him, he blesses us with his gifts. Both his fruit and gifts enable us to grow into maturity and become more like Jesus.

This month as we celebrate and think about Jesus' ascension and the coming of the Holy Spirit, we'd love to welcome you to our services.

God bless,
Heather

Foundations

(Matthew 7:24-29)

What will happen to my house
Lord,

Now that the rain is falling,
Now that the floods are rising,
Now that the wind is blowing <
And beating, beating upon it?

Sunday by Sunday
I hear your Word
With interest,
With conflict,
With questions.
I hear your Word
As I build my house.

But will it stand, Lord,
When the rain and the floods
And the winds challenge?
Are my foundations
Sunday sand of hearing only,
Or daily rock of hearing and doing
Your will,
Living Your Word,
Strong in the storm?

Lord, Lord,
Help me to hear,
Move me to act.
Let my house stand.

On Children

And a woman who held a babe against her bosom said,
'Speak to us of children'.
And he said:
Your children are not your children.
They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself.
They come through you but not from you,
And though they are with you, yet
they belong not to you.
You may give them your love but not your thoughts,
For they have their own thoughts.
You may house their bodies but not their souls.

For their souls' dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.

You may strive to be like them but seek not to make them like you.
For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday.
You are the bows from which your children as living arrows are sent forth.

The archer sees the mark upon the path of the infinite, and He bends you with His might that His arrows may go swift and far.

Let your bending in the archer's hand
be for gladness:

For even as He loves the arrow that flies, so He loves also the bow that is stable.

So profound and beautiful-Meru

Understanding the Trinity

Trinity Sunday has its place in our liturgical calendar (15th June), yet we do not often hear sermons on the Trinity. The term 'Trinity' isn't found in the Bible, and the Early Church took nearly 400 years to come up with a clear understanding of it.

However, there are hints of trinitarian language in the New Testament, e.g. Jesus instructs His disciples to baptise 'in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit' (Matt 28:19). Our understanding of the Trinity arises from God's activity in our world, as reflected in the creedal questions:

'Do you believe and trust in God the Father, source of all being and life, the One for whom we exist?'

Do you believe and trust in God the Son, who took our human nature, died for us and rose again?

Do you believe and trust in God the Holy Spirit, who gives life to the people of God and makes Christ known in the world?

So why should the Trinity be important for us? If 'God is love' (1 John 4:8) it means that the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are in a community of love together. Their relationship has been expressed as a divine dance, as they interact with one another, expressing love for each another and complementing the work each one has to do. As people made in God's image, we are called to live this community of love in our lives and churches.

The Trinity also provides the basis for our mission, 'As the Father has sent Me, so send I you.' Just as God the Father sent Jesus into the world, so Jesus sends us into the world to do the Father's work, equipped and accompanied by the Holy Spirit. In sharing God's love, we share the life of the Trinity. Augustine spoke about the Spirit being the love between God the Father and the Son.

'At the heart of reality lies the love between the Father and the Son. The Spirit unites us with Christ so that we begin to experience the same depth of love that exists between the Father and the Son.' (Graham Tomlin).

The simple pleasures of Ordinary Time

One great phrase of the Church of England, which is little-known but carries a wealth of rich meaning, is 'ordinary time'. While the seasons of Christmas, Epiphany, Lent, Easter, Pentecost and Advent all have their fixtures and moments for focus and concentration, the bulk of the summer months is 'ordinary time'! A very evocative phase – nothing particularly to focus on or to celebrate.

Just because it is 'ordinary', it does not mean it is not important or of no significance to how God wants us to use our lives. For most of us life is lived between high and low points: we look forward to something on the horizon or we are seeking to recover from something. So, it should be no surprise that ordinary time is the longest season in the Church calendar. Abraham Lincoln once said that: "God must love ordinary people because He made so many of them"!

Ordinary people, it seems to me, need 'ordinary time'. Sundays and weekdays in-between, to sense God's presence with us in the day-to-day mundane, and ordinary comings and goings of life. He is there in the heights of resurrection joy and celebration. He is with us in the vulnerability and frailty of human weakness, modelled in the incarnation. He is with us in our efforts to discipline ourselves and be moulded by him (Lent) but He is also with us whenever we are conscious of life just being ordinary. When our eyes are opened to these things, we will see what an extraordinary God we have!

Surge in visits to church search website

AChurchNearYou.com

The number of page visits to the Church of England's church-finder website soared by 55 per cent last year to almost 200 million, as growing numbers of people searched for their local congregation.

Public page views

AChurchNearYou.com hit 198.6 million in 2024 – up from 128.1 million in 2023 and up more than three quarters on the previous year. The figure does not include the 9.7-million-page impressions from the site's army of local editors, who maintain and update parish pages, adding and tagging worship services, events and community action projects such as food banks.

Users shared a total of 11,733 church services and events from AChurchNearYou.com on social media last year – a 268 per cent increase in a year. And 18,445 services and events were added to calendars on people's mobile phones and other devices, a 200 per cent increase on the previous year.

The surging use of AChurchNearYou.com comes after polls suggested growing interest in faith. The Church of England's Head of Digital, Amaris Cole, said: "We're delighted that more people than ever are looking for a local church via our church-finder tool AChurchNearYou.com."

"The staggering increase shows the public are more interested than ever in connecting with one of our communities, whether for a service, an event, a family activity or one of the amazing projects our churches run."

"Our churches regularly report newcomers who have found them through the site, so the rise in page hits is giving our editors confidence in inviting the public in to one of our 16,000 spaces. "Because everyone is welcome, we've prioritised accessibility by adding tags to help visitors find the service for them – whether there is wheelchair access, gluten-free refreshments, British Sign Language translation or dementia friendly. These can be found by using the tags when searching for churches in your area."

Exhibition Dates

18th October –

1st November

Thank you everyone who has so far sent in squares for our 2025 Art Exhibition Knitvity. We are looking to stage this in the Autumn of 2025 and the squares are steadily arriving in church.

Having looked through the squares we have so far could I possibly ask for more red, yellow and white please. It's wonderful to know that yet again so many people have engaged in our knitting of squares, and I cannot thank you all enough.

Paul and I will be meeting shortly to look at the practicalities of our theme for this year, we do hope to utilise some of our previous structures just repurposing them.

As the year progress's I will keep everyone updated on colours needed and where we've got to in our planning.

Advertising the event, at present we use our Church Website, A Church Near You, Parish Noticeboards, Tesco Community activities board, we shall visit the new Sainsbury's a couple of local shops and Radio Stoke.

Please let us know of any other places you think might take a poster.

To coin a phrase often heard near Christmas time on BBC 1 - Keep Dancing, in our case Keep knitting.

Once again many thanks.

The new curate had visited the local prison and taken along his electric guitar. He was so pleased with the applause that he responded: 'Thank you very much for your appreciation. I so hope that I will see you all back here again next year.'

Crooked politicians

The editor of a small country newspaper, furious over several government bills that had recently been passed, printed a scathing editorial with an enormous headline: 'HALF THE LEGISLATORS ARE CROOKS.' Many local politicians were outraged and exerted tremendous pressure on him to print a retraction. He finally gave in to the pressure and ran his apology with the headline: 'HALF OF OUR LEGISLATORS ARE NOT CROOKS.'

Keith was very strict about confetti in the churchyard

Good quote

A certain bishop had a fondness for using Bible quotations whenever he visited a function. When he arrived to open a new Maternity Home the organisers thought: "Now we have him stumped." However, after a few well-chosen words, the bishop smiled and said: "I know you are waiting for a quotation, so here it is: 'We shall not all sleep, but we shall be changed!'"

It was fifty days since Passover, and Jews from many countries had come to Jerusalem to celebrate Passover. As the Apostles were gathered together the Holy Spirit came upon them and they began to speak in other languages as the Spirit enabled them.

The crowd that were listening were amazed as they heard about God in their own language.

How many people heard, believed and were baptised that day?

DID YOU KNOW?

The Bible or parts of the Bible have now been translated into over 3,000 different languages since it was first written in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek.

Recycling & Green Living Tips

Greening your wardrobe

The fashion industry is responsible for 10% of global emissions and 92 million tonnes of textiles are thrown away each year. To improve on this we need to change.

Buy secondhand where you can, it can also help charities.

Donate to charity shops or sell on Vinted clothes you no longer need.

If you have any that are not fit for donation or selling, Salvation Army do have recycling bins for these.

What Shopping Bags Should I Use?

All bags are not created equal when it comes to the environment. And paper might not be as green as you think. With more cities, states and countries banning single-use plastic bags, paper has become a popular alternative at the checkout.

At first glance, this seems like an obvious win for the environment. Plastic bags, after all, are made from fossil fuels and a major source of pollution. Paper bags, however, are not necessarily a better choice. They come with their own list of environmental caveats, as do reusable bags.

Top tips for a waste free barbecue

June is a great time of year to dust off your garden barbecue, get some yummy food, and invite your friends and family to enjoy some sunshine in your garden. But what do you do with the food and drink packaging, leftover food, foil, empty cleaning bottles and other recyclable items afterwards?

Food and drink packaging

Eating outdoors is one of summers greatest pleasures, but it's even better when you know you're helping the Planet! Cardboard and plastic packaging used for meat and vegetables can be recycled with your usual recycling collection – remember to remove any food residue first!

Any drinks cans and glass bottles can also be collected with your recycling at home. Some councils may not take certain things, so check on their website to make sure.

Leftover barbecue food

You may find that you have food left over after your barbecue. If this is the case make sure you put it in the fridge and use it the next day or freeze it for another day. You can find some great recipes on the website, Love Food Hate Waste to help you use up leftover food.

Foil

Most of us use foil when we barbecue but not everyone knows that you can recycle used foil if it's clean and free from grease or food residue. You can dip foil trays in washing up water to remove any crumbs or food residue and scrunch kitchen foil into a ball before placing in your recycling bin. Any dirty or stained foil should be placed in your general waste bin.

How to check if your foil is recyclable.

Do the scrunch test to check whether your shiny wrapper is aluminium foil or plastic film: scrunch the wrapper in your hand - if it remains scrunched in a ball it is recyclable foil.

Charcoal ash

When cooking on your home barbecue, remember there will be ash left over from the charcoal, so what do you do with it? The answer is 'it depends':

If the charcoal has been treated, it'll be marketed as 'easy to light', and this should be put in your general rubbish bin.

Untreated charcoal or wood ash can be used on your garden as a soil fertiliser or go on your compost heap. Alternatively, it can go in your garden waste bin. Always make sure the ash is completely cool before putting it in a bin or on your garden.

Happy Recycling

Discipleship: Start This Way: Beginning to live as an everyday Christian disciple

By Guy Donegan-Cross, BRF, £9.99

This book emphasises the difference that discipleship can make in our day to day experience. Both a resource for the enquirer and a tool for anyone wanting to support someone in their faith journey, this book provides an accessible and grounded route into the beginnings of discipleship, with a clear explanation of what it looks and feels like to become a disciple and to start to live as one.

Prayer for May

Dear Lord,

June is the loveliest month, with long days and the beauty of summer all around us. Thank you that, in the church's year this month, we remember one of the loveliest of your followers – Barnabas, known as the Son of Encouragement.

He encouraged the believers in Antioch to remain true to the Lord with all their hearts. Through his ministry of encouragement, a great number of people were brought to know you.

Lord, we all thrive when we are encouraged. And we, your people, so need to be encouraged today in this world which can seem so confusing and discouraging.

So, thank you for those who have encouraged us in the past, and for those who encourage us now. Help us to read your living unchanging Word and to remain true to you with all our hearts. Help us to be a Barnabas to those we know who might be struggling. May we bear fruit in our discipleship.

In Jesus' name. Amen.
